TOURIST'S WILLY DROPS OFF AFTER 24-HOUR SEX ORGY

EXCLUSIVE

By PENNY MARSHALL

A TOURIST is fighting for his life in hospital after his penis FELL APART following a wild 24-hour, drug-fuelled sex session.

Doctors had to amputate what was left of the 50-year-old man's willy after the holidaymaker's nookie marathon left him suffering from necrosis of the manhood.

The unfortunate male had scoffed a cocktail of Viagra and ecstasy before embarking on the mega-romp with his wife.

Hazza can't pay for his own police

PRINCE Harry has lost a legal challenge over his bid to be allowed to make private payments for police protection.

His lawyers wanted a judicial review of the rejection of his offer to pay for protection in the UK, after his security arrangements changed when the prince stopped being a "working royal".

But a judge has ruled against such a hearing. Home Office lawyers had opposed the idea of allowing wealthy people to "buy" security from the police.

This ruling followed a one-day court hearing in London last week.

Since then the Duke and Duchess of Sussex have been involved in a "near catastrophic car chase" involving paparazzi in New York. Lawyers for Prince Harry had challenged the decision to reject his private funding for police protection for himself and his family when visiting the UK.

35,000 NHS sex assaults

MORE than 35,000 incidents of sexual misconduct or sexual violence – ranging from derogatory remarks to rape – were recorded on NHS premises in England between 2017 and 2022.

Rape, sexual assault or being touched without consent accounted for many cases.

The data showed at least 20% of incidents involved rape, sexual assault or inappropriate physical contact – including kissing.

Other cases included sexual harassment, stalking and abusive or degrading remarks.

Biden's too old... but vote for him anyway

LOSER HILLARY BACKS DODDERY JOE

LOSER Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton admitted over the weekend that President Biden's old age is a "concern" – but told people to vote for him anyway.

Bossyboots Clinton, 75 – who was beaten by Donald Trump in the 2016 election – confirmed she was unsure that the 80-year-old president was fit for office.

She said: "His age is an issue, and people have every right to consider it."

The former secretary of state and senator from New York was responding to a question from Financial Times editor Edward Luce about Biden nearly tumbling down the stairs during last week's G-7 summit in Hiroshima, Japan.

"There was that heart-stopping moment when he almost fell over coming down the stairs a day or two ago," Luce said. "Every time that happens, your heart is in your mouth because these things could be consequential. Is that a concern?"

"It's a concern for anyone. We've had presidents who had fallen before who were a lot younger, and people didn't go into heart palpitations," Clinton replied.

"But, you know, he has this great saying – and I think he's right – don't judge him for running against the Almighty but against the alternative. I am of the camp that I think he's determined to run."

According to a recent Washington Post-ABC News poll, 63% of Americans say Biden is not mentally sharp enough to govern effectively and 62% say he is not in good physical shape to be head of state.

Raab latest Tory MP to stand down

FORMER deputy prime minister Dominic Raab will stand down as an MP at the next election.

His decision comes a month after he resigned as a minister when a bullying inquiry found he had acted in an "intimidating" way towards officials.

Mr Raab said he is concerned about "the pressure the job has placed on my young family".

Mr Raab and his wife have two sons, aged 10 and eight.

Since becoming an MP in 2010, Mr Raab has served in many ministerial roles.

In 2018 then-prime minister Theresa May appointed him as Brexit secretary, a job he quit less than six months later.

Boris Johnson picked him to be his foreign secretary and first secretary of state – he was left in charge of running the country when Mr Johnson was hospitalised with COVID in April 2020.

Mr Raab has also been an ally of Rishi Sunak, supporting him in last summer's leadership race.

Food prices still soaring

THE rate at which food prices are rising fell for the second month in a row in May but remains "incredibly high", says research firm Kantar.

Prices were up by 17.2% from a year ago in the four weeks to the middle of May, down from 17.3% last month, it said.

Kantar said an average annual grocery bill is £833 higher than a year ago.

Despite the pressures shoppers still stocked up for the Coronation in May.

Sales of wine, cream and pastry all soared as people "got into the spirit" and had a go at making the official Coronation quiche.

Nonce Rolf heads to Hell

CAN YOU TELL THAT HE'S DEAD YET?

TELLY nonce Rolf Harris, who was jailed for a series of indecent assaults on girls, has died aged 93, it has been confirmed.

Beast Harris was found guilty of a string of indecent assaults between 1968 and 1986 following a trial in 2014 – and was jailed for five years and nine months.

He was released from prison in 2017 – but never apologised to his victims. Before his crimes came to light, Harris had been a fixture of family telly.

His death was confirmed by a registrar at Maidenhead Town Hall.

Harris's family released a statement saying: "This is to confirm that Rolf Harris recently died peacefully surrounded by family and friends and has now been laid to rest."

"They ask that you respect their privacy. No further comment will be made."

The cause of death is not yet known, though he had been suffering from neck cancer in recent months.

Attacks

Following a trial at Southwark Crown Court, Harris was initially found guilty of 12 attacks on four girls, mainly in the 1970s and 1980s.

The victims included two girls in their early teens and a friend of his daughter.

COPS BEGIN NEW MADDIE SEARCH

POLICE investigating the disappearance of Madeleine McCann say they are searching a reservoir in Portugal after receiving "certain tip-offs".

Police divers were seen entering the water at the Arade dam in Portugal.

The site is about 31 miles from where the British toddler went missing in Praia da Luz 16 years ago.

German prosecutor Christian Wolter said: "We are investigating in Portugal on the basis of certain tips. I can't disclose the background at the moment, like why we are searching there and what we hope to find there. That shall remain our secret for the moment."

A boat was also sent into the reservoir with two officers. About 20 to 30 could be seen in the area, a dozen of which had sniffer dogs.

Officers will not only be focusing on the water but the surrounding scrubland. Vehicles and officers were first seen at the site of the reservoir on Monday after reports of the new search emerged.

Local police said they are co-ordinating searches in the Algarve at the request of German police and in the presence of British officers.

It comes after German police announced in June 2020 that they believed Madeleine was dead and that suspect Christian B was likely responsible.

PUTIN No.1 FOR NEWS FLUNKY'S DILDO TERROR

SURPRISE: Margarita Simonyan and the 'vibration bullet'

Tyrant's cheerleader thought sex toy was a BOMB

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

ONE of evil Vladimir Putin's top media cheerleaders feared that enemies had sent a BOMB in the post...

But, in fact, a suspicious package sent to Margarita Simonyan was a DILDO designed to be shoved up the Kremlin-supporting propagandist's Russian MINGE.

Simonyan, editor-in-chief of telly sewage outlet Russia Today, was left embarrassed after alleging that traces of explosives were found in a parcel intended for her.

When she explained the package was actually a sex toy from Hong Kong, the situation was swiftly downgraded and she was left red-faced.

Simonyan stated there was no explosive device in the parcel and explained that it was instead a "vibration bullet" used for "sexual adventures", which she had initially mistaken for a pencil case.

She wrote on her Russian social media site Telegram: "There was no explosive device there. But here's what turned out – they say it's a kind of 'vibration bullet' for sexual adventures."

"For me, it was some kind of pencil case."

Disturbing

Russia Today's editor-in-chief posted a picture of the bright blue sex toy, still wrapped in packaging.

Last year, Simonyan delivered a disturbing monologue, alluding to the possibility of war crime trials at The Hague targeting Putin.

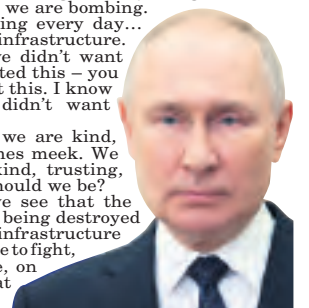

Simonyan said: "They are getting ready to take our Crimea. We're doing the only thing we can do in this situation, we are bombing."

"We are bombing every day... we are bombing infrastructure."

"God knows we didn't want this, no-one wanted this – you and I didn't want this. I know the leadership didn't want this either."

"There again, we are kind, polite and at times meek. We are softies, so kind, trusting, and meek, but should we be?"

"Right now, we see that the infrastructure is being destroyed every day. The infrastructure that helps Ukraine to fight, to kill our people, on the territories that are now ours."

Man dies to save family of DUCKS

A MAN run over and killed while helping a family of DUCKS across the road will be "remembered for his final act of kindness".

A fundraiser started by the grieving family of Casey Rivara identified him as the man seen helping a family of ducks get across a busy road before he was fatally struck by a car driven by a 17-year-old.

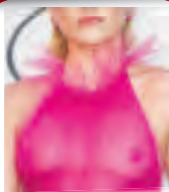

"Casey was the kindest, most amazing husband and father," Casey's aunt Tracey Rivara said on the GoFundMe page.

Rivara's death happened in Rocklin just after 8pm when a witness said the man left his car to usher the ducks across traffic.

"He got out of the car and shooing the ducks and everyone was clapping," said 12-year-old William Wimsatt.

Shortly after the ducks made it safely over, the man was hit by a car that seemed to come out of nowhere.

DEAR OLD MADGE SELLS SNAPS OF HER VADGE!

AMBASSADOR OF S&M: Madge and her Sex book photos

Queen Mum of Pop in £240k charity auction

By HELEN HIGHWATER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

MADONNA is selling off snaps of her FANNY!

No, the Queen Mum of Pop is not on OnlyFans – she's auctioning risqué snaps taken for her iconic 1992 book Sex for charity.

Taken by Steve Meisel, the black and white images of the singer raised eyebrows when they were released.

Madonna, now 64, was aged 34 when she posed naked for the series of erotic photographs, taken in New York and Miami burlesque hotels and on the streets.

The snaps showed her pert breasts and neatly-trimmed vadge.

Now, around 40 of the pics will be on sale at October's auction at Christie's, New York, signed by both Madge and Steve.

Prices begin at a cool £40,000 and it's estimated the collection will sell for up to £240,000, with a portion of the funds going to help little orphans in Malawi.

Christie's deputy chairman Darius Himes said: "It was shocking and titillating and captured so much white-hot energy coming off Madonna in the early 1990s."

The Material Girl star was arguably S&M's first cultural ambassador thanks to the sadomasochistic images, softcore pornography, and simulations of lezzie sexual acts in Sex.

Swifties sell concert RAIN for £200 a pop

CANNY Taylor Swift fans are selling RAIN which fell on the singer's latest concert.

Swifties who braved the wild weather to attend Swift's concert in Foxborough, Massachusetts, captured rainwater in containers they're now trying to sell online.

The pop star is on the US leg of her sold-out Eras Tour, taking to the stage at Gillette Stadium on Saturday amid a downpour.

The Anti-Hero singer dazzled despite getting drenched in rain — which some canny fans are capitalizing on and trying to flog for £200.

"Jealous I didn't come up with this scam first," one user said on an Instagram post showing a screenshot of the optimistic seller.

"If it wasn't collected off Taylor I don't want it," declared another.

Others thought the containers look a little familiar.

"I know a weed container when I see one lol," a fan laughed.

"When the stoners and the swifties unite," joked another.

Three shags a week will beat stress

SEX three times a week can help beat stress, according to experts.

Often when people are overwhelmed by work, face endless to-do lists and feel ground down, their sex life dwindles.

But counsellor Tracey Sainsbury says instead of stopping having sex, people should have far more of it.

She points to the 'daily dose' of happiness hormones which are advised for people's wellbeing.

Sex can deliver these, through the intimacy and skin to skin contact as well as the act itself.

Mrs Sainsbury advised people to use sex to 'de-stress'.

She said: "You can stimulate all of your positive hormones with sex, and people should just make it part of their routine."

RANDY TOURIST'S COCK DROPS OFF AFTER 24-HOUR SEX ROMP

A TOURIST is fighting for his life in hospital after his penis FELL APART following a 24-hour, drug-fuelled sex session.

The German man is in a serious condition after the mega-romp left him with necrosis of the genitals.

Doctors reportedly had to amputate the 50-year-old man's member after the visitor's ecstasy and Viagra sex marathon left him suffering from septic shock.

The unnamed man and his wife had what has been described as a "crazy" marathon sex session after taking the party drug at their holiday apartment in the picture postcard town of Castel del Piano in Italy's Grosseto region. Local media report that after waking up the following morning the man felt seriously ill and presented himself to the emergency room at the Misericordia hospital on May 11.

Inhibitions

Ecstasy is notorious for lowering inhibitions and making people more interested in sex.

Unfortunately, and for men especially, it can interfere with some of the nerve impulses that make erections possible.

Some men have been known to try to counter the erection-dampening effects of MDMA by taking sildenafil (best known as Viagra) or something similar.

Health professionals, perhaps unsurprisingly, say this drug cocktail is highly inadvisable.

MDMA stimulates the cardiovascular system — increasing heart rate, blood pressure, and body temperature, while Viagra has the opposite effect on blood pressure, so the user's heart can go into overdrive in an attempt to normalise the blood pressure.

And rather than just cancelling each other out, the effects of both could cause dangerously high pulse rates — especially in someone with pre-existing heart disease.

Doctors say that the surging levels of serotonin caused can also often lead to some disorientation and tremors — which in some cases can escalate to hallucinations, seizures, a loss of consciousness and coma.

A 2011 research paper described a case of a man with no history of heart disease who suffered a major heart attack after taking a cocktail of ecstasy, Viagra and alcohol.

Cannibal will spend life in jail

A COURT has upheld the whole-life sentence for a man convicted of killing his ex-girlfriend and eating her body.

Joseph Oberhansley was convicted in September 2020 of murdering Tammy Jo Blanton in Indiana.

Judge Vicki Carmichael sentenced Oberhansley to life in prison without parole.

Oberhansley's lawyer, Victoria Casanova, argued her client's mental health wasn't taken into consideration.

But now the Indiana Supreme Court has upheld the trial judge's sentence.

The body of Blanton, 46, was found at her home the morning of September 11, 2014, badly mutilated with more than 25 sharp force injuries.

Clark County Prosecutor Jeremy Mull expressed relief at the ruling.

"I hope that the family of the victim can rest a bit easier now that the result of the proceedings has been reviewed and upheld," Mull said.

Man strangled his penis with metal bands

A MAN was hospitalized after passing out with nine metal bands constricting his scrotum following a botched attempt to improve his performance in the sack.

The 44-year-old was rushed to casualty in Australia with "nine heavy duty industrial stainless-steel rings stuck around the base of the penis" for a whopping 12 hours.

The unfortunately soul, who was reportedly intoxicated, had used his bizarre bedding bands in a half-baked attempt to maintain an erection during sexual intercourse.

He passed out following the hanky-panky session, after which he awoke three hours later in "significant pain".

Medics enlisted the aid of the fire-department, who cut the rings off with an industrial-grade circular saw.

Why babes look SO sexy in jeans

RESEARCH on the trade of jeans fabric shows that it emerged way back in the 16th century in the cities of Genoa, Italy, and Nîmes, France.

And "Gênes", the French word for Genoa, may be the origin of the word "jeans".

In Nîmes, weavers tried to reproduce jean fabric but instead developed a similar twill fabric that became known as denim,

"de Nîmes" – or "from Nîmes".

Often the term "jeans" refers to a particular style of trousers, called "blue jeans", which have copper-riveted pockets that were invented by Jacob W. Davis in 1871 and patented by Jacob W. Davis and Levi Strauss on May 20, 1873.

Initially, Strauss's jeans were simply sturdy trousers worn by factory workers, miners, farmers, and cattlemen throughout the North American West.

Nowadays, jeans are beloved of dads but they also look pretty WONDERFUL on ladies, too – the tight fit emphasising a lady's shapely arse.

And jeans look even better if the lady wearer is topless and showing off her lovely busters.

Here are some women showing us exactly why babes look so sexy in jeans...

Jane: movie man probed my orgasms

HOLLYWOOD veteran Jane Fonda has told how a film director once asked to sleep with her to see what her orgasms were like.

The actress (above) made the revelation in a section of TV show Watch What Happens Live, when she was asked to name one man in Hollywood who "tried to pick you up, who you turned down". The 85-year-old said: "The French director René Clément," referring to the award-winning director of The Battle of the Rails and Forbidden Games.

Although Jane did not name the film, she starred in Clément's 1964 movie Les Félines.

"Was it a sloppy pass?" asked telly host Andy Cohen.

And she replied: "Well, he wanted to go to bed with me because he said the character had to have an orgasm in the movie and he needed to see what my orgasms were like."

"Are you kidding me?" Cohen responded. She replied: "He said it in French, I pretended I didn't understand."

'Frozen' village blocks tourists

A VILLAGE that inspired the hit Disney film Frozen has blocked off its best view to deter tourists.

Tiny Hallstatt in Austria was overrun with hordes of unwelcome visitors who claim the town served as an inspiration for the animated flick.

According to Mayor Alexander Scheut, the usually quiet village of 750 permanent residents is being taken over by 7,000 additional visitors EVERY DAY who want to snap selfies at Lake Hallstatt and the Dachstein Mountains.

Authorities have now erected huge lakeside screens to block off the photogenic view.

The town – noted for its natural beauty – became a Unesco World Heritage site in 1997.

Scheut revealed that increased foot traffic during peak travel times has left residents wishing the tourists would "let it go" and move on.

'SHE HELPED OUR PUPILS GROW!'

LESSONS IN LOVE: Tracy Vanderhulst (above)

A WOMAN once named Teacher of the Year has been arrested for having sex with a teenage student, according to police.

Tracy Vanderhulst, a 38-year-old maths teacher at Yucaipa High School in Yucaipa, California, has been charged with statutory rape following an investigation into allegations she had intercourse with a minor, the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department said.

Police did not say when or where the two allegedly had sex.

The victim was described as a 16-year-old high school student at Yucaipa High School, although it's not clear if he is still a student there.

Vanderhulst was booked into Central Detention Centre in San Bernardino and her bail was set at $30,000.

"Investigators and the Yucaipa Calimesa Joint Unified School District worked cooperatively to ensure a Detectives said they believe there may be additional victims.

The sheriff's department asked anyone with additional information to contact them.

The maths teacher had previously been named the school's teacher of the year in 2017.

Desire

Vanderhulst, the Yucaipa High School principal wrote at the time, "epitomises the educator so many desire to be – she is the kind and innovative teacher from whom we hope our children will grow... the educator who strives to engage all of her students from her intervention classes to her honours classes".

ZAPPING ladies' MINGES with electric shocks may make them more RANDY, sex boffins claim.

Electrical impulses on the dorsal genital nerve around the clitoris have been shown to stimulate sexual arousal in women, including patients with severe spinal-cord injuries.

The research, carried out at the University of Michigan, included nine participants in three groups – three women who had some level of sexual dysfunction, three with a spinal-cord injury and three with neither.

Two electrodes were placed on either side of a participant's clitoris, and the women with injuries reported a substantial two or three-point jump in sexual arousal.

PEPSI CAN POISONER JAILED FOR 4 YEARS

A FORMER store worker has been sentenced to four years in prison for spiking his colleague's Pepsi with bleach, spurred to do so because he claimed the victim was brushing up against him.

Jerome Ellis was sentenced for poisoning of food or water. The 49-year-old (below) pleaded no contest to the charge last month.

The janitor, who worked at a Dollar General store in DeLand, Florida, was originally arrested in October 2022 on two counts of poisoning with intent to kill or injure and tampering with evidence.

Volusia County sheriff's deputies responded to the store on October 24 over a poisoning report. A worker there told cops that he and Ellis had got into an argument the day before, and he believed that Ellis had a grudge against him.

The complainant said he left an open Pepsi can on a counter top during a toilet break and when he returned and took a sip, he noticed it tasted and smelled "like bleach".

When the victim reviewed a surveillance video, he claimed it showed Ellis pouring bleach into his can of fizzy pop.

Bishop sued by nuns over affair claim

A GROUP of Carmelite nuns accused a bishop of "pure evil" after he closed their convent over allegations their Mother Superior had sex with a priest.

The Discalced Carmelite Nuns, based in Arlington, Texas, filed a lawsuit against Bishop Michael Olson (above), of the Fort Worth Diocese, after he ordered the seizure of computers and a phone and barred priests from conducting mass at their convent over allegations that Mother Superior Teresa Agnes Gerlach broke her vow of chastity.

The lawsuit, filed in Tarrant County Court, says Olson burst into the nunnery last month and interrogated Gerlach immediately after the nun had surgery and was still under the effects of general anaesthesia.

Attorney Matthew Bobo says Gerlach does not recall what she admitted to Olson.

Boffins at the University of West Lancashire have found that looking at images of ladies wearing the sexy lingerie reduces the level of stress hormone cortisol and actually increases levels of testosterone – which strengthens bones and muscles.

Panties

Prof Angus King of the university said: "We are not quite sure why this exactly happens or why pictures of suspenders are more beneficial to health than, say, pictures of peep-hole bras or crotchless panties, which we also investigated.

"Looking at pictures of ladies wearing suspenders could increase the average man's lifespan by up to a year, which may not sound a lot now but when you're on your deathbed, you'd welcome it!"

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH
DIANA DOLL,
34C, FROM
WATFORD,
HERTS

I LOVE, love, LOVE making sex tapes! It's such a major turn on. I have a tripod right next to my bed at all times!

I also have my camera hooked up to my 50-inch TV on my bedroom wall so we can watch back the movie or even see it in real time.

It's so arousing to watch me and my fella going at it on the big screen and knowing the record button is on. I can't wait to see how we look.

My favourite position is him sat against the headboard and me on top, facing away from him.

We can both see my huge boobs bouncing up and down and his cock pounding my pussy.

I also find it super hot doing it doggy and positioning my phone in between our legs to see the action shot.

I love to see all the cum dripping out of me afterwards too! It's like you're a porn star – it really brings out the wild side in me.

Most of the time we have agreed to delete the footage after watching it a few times. It feels the safest thing to do in case it falls into the wrong hands!

Though we really want to dress semi-anonymously, with face masks on, and share our sex tape on an amateur porn site. That would be so horny.

Lauren, who boasts 32DD boobs, said: "You could say I literally like a night on the tiles, or an afternoon for that matter."

"Sometimes I get hot when I'm cooking so I strip to cool down."

Naughty Lauren said she isn't shy when it comes to showing off her pert pair to the neighbours either.

She added: "I have a huge kitchen window and I'm convinced that next door have caught me at it more than once."

HOLDSWORTH

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

We won't leave behind anything worth finding...

INDIANA Jones is back with new movie The Dial of Destiny, and we all know what that means.

Blokes – that is, me – will dream of dusty fedoras, whipping whips, getting the girl, killing a Nazi, and ultimately ending up with a chunk of golden something we can't keep.

There is a reason why the Indian Jones films have had us all by the knackers since the first one aired in 1981 – a year our supposedly “new adult” generation think was in the Stone Age.

It was adventure. Derring-do. And after risking life and limb, finding that pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Jurassic Park – also directed by Steven Spielberg, and whose ace dinosaurs also came from the sci-fi effects unit run by Star Wars and Raiders of the Lost Ark wizard George Lucas – was the same.

Our endless fascination with, along with healthy primal fear of, dinosaurs has had us piling into cinemas for decades, too.

It's part of why we love volcanoes, and crocodiles, and those massive live-forever tortoises you can only find in the Galapagos Islands. Or the odd zoo.

It's why so many people like birds, by far and away the most visible presence of modern-day pterodactyls.

Pierced

And it's all because of something that anyone with green hair and pierced lips absolutely detests about the rest of us.

That – whisper this quietly in case you offend an oaf – you think quite a lot of the past wasn't all bad.

It's why kids and the adults who created them love collecting seashells on the seashore, mere debris from long lost marine souls otherwise destined to become yet more sand.

It's why people wander along coastlines and through fields scanning endlessly their metal detectors.

It's why we might on the one hand find fossils a bit dull, but you'd never want to see them stopped being dug up.

And no surprises there, really, now that a full-sized diplodocus skeleton can fetch an ambitious archaeologist a multi-million payday from the affluent James Bond Baddie collector community.

But I'm struggling to wonder what we, us lot, now, will leave behind.

Imagine foraging for signs of 2023 in, say, 2333? Will there be a quest to find Just Stop Oil placards?

A mission to discover the long lost scrolls of Angela Rayner's speeches?

The discovery of a man's corpse dressed in women's clothing and makeup?

No. Of course there will not be.

Almost everything we produce these days that isn't online is destined for recycling, however dubiously obscure that process can be.

We turn our empty tins of baked beans into more tins, plastic bottles into more plastic bottles, six-pack beer rings into flip flops and shopping bags.

We trudge outside every week emptying some unwanted stuff into one bin, some into another, and some more into yet another.

All the while knowing we're doing the council's job for them that, yes, we're paying for, no, they're not doing, and, absolutely, they will have you in court if you dare to disagree.

It seems fitting that the latest film is Harrison Ford's last outing as Indy, because the world has moved on into a place that our hero would never recognise.

One where anything historic is awful, anything with meaning doesn't count, anything that definitively measured the mettle of a nation can be dismissed by an idiot in green hair.

But there will be another Guardians of the Galaxy, though.

Featuring all these modern-day progressives clutching the new mobile phones that daddy just bought them.

On-bail perv asked to see youth's feet

A PERVY teaching assistant accused of licking a boy's feet was arrested again while out on bail after he approached another boy and asked to see his feet.

Caurey Rollins, 26 (above), had been out of jail for just 10 days, ahead of his trial for eight counts of child molestation, when he pulled over his car outside a home in Grovetown, Georgia, where a boy, 12, was playing basketball in the driveway.

According to a police report, Rollins showed the boy a picture on his phone of feet and asked him if his feet were like those in the photo.

The boy said no, and then Rollins asked if he could see them. The boy again said no and ran inside.

The boy's mother recalled hearing stories about Rollins and pulled up a news report about him on her phone, before her son identified him as the man in the car.

Rollins was held in Augusta and has been charged with attempted child molestation.

Home grenade kills dad, puts sons in hospital

A MAN died and his two teenage sons were wounded after a grenade they found among their grandfather's belongings exploded in their home.

Police said someone pulled the pin on the explosive, causing it to detonate inside the property in Lakes of the Four Seasons, Indiana.

When cops arrived at the scene they found an unresponsive man who was later pronounced dead.

The unnamed victim's two sons, aged 14 and 18, were taken to a local hospital with shrapnel wounds, according to the sheriff's department.

The Porter County Bomb Squad also responded to determine whether there were any additional explosive devices at the home.

An investigation into the blast is ongoing.

MEXICO TITTY!

Activists strip to promote nudity

MEXICANS are famous for sleeping, picking their dirty teeth with knives and killing each other during ongoing drug cartel wars.

But now folk from the wrong side of the Rio Grande want to be known for going naked.

Dozens of Mexicans took part in the first "Naked Day" in Mexico City to "normalize the body in its natural state".

At least 200 people gathered at the La Cibeles roundabout and walked with only shoes on to the Ángel de la Independencia, a monument to Mexico gaining independence from their equally-idle Spanish overlords.

According to the organizers, this first march in the Mexican capital seeks to "generate visibility to nudism as a practice, philosophy, and social movement".

"The intention is to inspire other nudist groups, cities and countries to do the same," says Naked Day on its official Twitter account.

Almost uniquely for Mexico, the two-hour event passed without anyone being murdered, dismembered or their bloodsoaked body hanged from a motorway bridge.

UPROAR OVER JUDE'S FAT ARSE

CRITICS are asking whether former heart-throb Jude Law used a STUNT ARSE for his latest flick.

The actor's enlarged posterior became the subject of speculation after the Cannes Film Festival premiere of Firebrand.

In the historical film, directed by Karim Aïnouz, Law portrays English monarch Henry VIII in the last stages of his life.

Alicia Vikander plays his sixth and final wife and queen, Catherine Parr.

Since its first screening at the weekend, Firebrand has received widespread praise from its audience, beginning with a seven-minute standing ovation at the end of its Cannes screening.

Yet one aspect of the film has been an additional matter of intrigue – the appearance of the fatso king's bare bottom during a steamy sex scene with Catherine. In his review for the left wing Guardian newspaper, Peter Bradshaw likened the appearance of Henry's bottom to a "giant, shaved arse of a sheep" before posing the question: "Did Law use a buttock double for this stomach-turning image?"

For The Times, reviewer Kevin Maher had a similar query. "A gasp-inducing shot of Henry's enormous rolling buttocks suggests that Law has partaken in some alarmingly detrimental weight gain (he hasn't!) or else clever editing, and a substitute posterior, is at work," he wrote.

Many reviews of Law's portrayal of the late king discuss the king's grotesque attitude and deteriorated physical state.

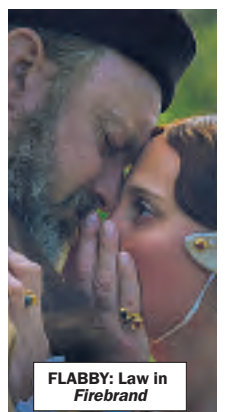

Henry suffered from chronic leg ulcers for much of the last decade of his life, thought to have been caused by an infection following a jousting accident in 1536.

As a result, his legs are described as "rotting".

In The Telegraph, film critic Tim Robey wrote: "There's a brief shot of maggots writhing in [Henry VIII's leg] which could easily cause you to throw up."

A UK cinematic release date for Firebrand has yet to be announced.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Tess,

I WENT to a neighbour's barbecue the other day and his wife started eating a sausage suggestively while looking at me.

I knew I was on to a winner. She's 44, blonde with a cracking body and I'm 26.

We sneaked away and ended up in her bedroom, where she wasted little time getting my cock out.

She sucked me off, taking me to the back of her throat, and then I licked her lovely, bald, moist fanny.

I then fked her hard and fast from behind before shooting my load deep inside her.

She says that she wants to make it a regular thing and – this is the the worrying part – her husband knows all about it. In fact, she says he wants to watch next time.

I think it's all a bit perky, but she is really fit and I'm tempted. What do you think I should do?

MC, Oxford

Tess says...

SHOW her man how it should be done!

Dear Tess,

I'M 36 and I recently got married for the second time. My new husband is sweet and very generous and he gets on well with my two children.

But unfortunately he's a dead loss in the sack and I am always left frustrated after intercourse.

So recently I have been seeing my ex-husband behind his back. He is an amazing performer in bed and never fails to make me orgasm.

We get together on Saturday afternoons, while my husband goes to watch the local cricket team, and I always feel satisfied after our rampant sessions.

Last week my hubby went to an away match – and within 30 minutes of him leaving my ex was knocking at the door.

We stripped and he brought me off with his tongue before I sucked him off. Next I got on all fours and he thrust into me from behind – just a routine session with this horny man!

But now I'm feeling guilty. What should I do?

HY, Leicestershire

Tess says...

STOP it, plain and simple

Bum deal with the wife wasn't what I expected

Dear Tess,

OVER the last six months my formerly frigid wife has turned into an absolute sex maniac.

I've no idea why, but I'm certainly not complaining about this welcome turnaround in our sex life.

She even likes it when I wear her stockings and suspenders while I give her one.

And when she mentioned she'd like to try anal sex for the first time last week, I was well up for it.

So after lots and lots of foreplay – using some lube on my gentle fingers around her ringpiece – I got her on all fours and started teasing her arse with my cock.

But just as I was about to ease my rock-hard cock into her lovely arse, she suddenly told me to stop.

She explained she wanted to take ME up the arse instead and then reached under the bed and brought out a huge, black strap-on dildo.

Obviously, I was shocked and just a bit annoyed – and I told her to fk off.

But she's not let me near her since. What can I do?

RD, Cornwall

Tess says...

TELL her she can't have bum fun with you unless she takes it first.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week TESS O'REILLY has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I'm crazy for more nookie with busty babe next door

Dear Tess,

FOR the past year I've had this fantasy about shagging my next door neighbour's wife.

She was a blonde but changed her hair colour to cherry brown because I told her it might look sexier. She's in her late 30s and I'm only 19.

It all started when I saw her topless sunbathing on a recliner in her back garden.

Her tits were huge and very sexy. She was rubbing suntan lotion into her knockers and she saw me stood there with my cock bulging through my tiny shorts.

I thought she'd run back into the house to cover up, but instead she smiled back and told me she was simply trying to grab her husband's attention.

Nipples

But now she had seen how big I was, she was glad to have mine instead!

I told her I'd always loved older women and my fantasy was to shag her in the garden and blow my hot, sticky load all over her gorgeous breasts and plump arse.

I thought she'd tell me to fk off, but she was loving all the attention.

Unfortunately, she said the time wasn't right and her husband would get suspicious if I kept trying to chat her up.

After that I'd stand naked in my bedroom window at the back of the house and wank while she watched from her garden.

Then one morning I came back from my run and was getting changed in the bedroom when I saw her in the garden again.

She was topless again – with those magnificent tits out – and when she saw me she smiled and started to play with her nipples.

Then she disappeared inside, leaving me nursing a semi.

But then the phone rang and it was her on the other end, inviting me round to hers as her hubby was away.

Well, I must have broken some kind of landspeed record, as I flew downstairs and out the kitchen door – leaping the fence between our two gardens and almost kicking her back door in, so to speak!

There in the kitchen, she pulled my shorts down, got on her knees and started sucking and licking all over my hard cock and swollen bollocks.

It was the best blowjob I'd ever had and I knew I couldn't hold on much longer as I unleashed a hot load down her throat.

She eagerly swallowed the lot, slurping out every drop from my throbbing bellend.

I then pulled down her skirt, bent her over the table and got my rock-hard cock straight up her, pounding away until we both climaxed together.

But since then we've gone back to wanking at each other through the window.

I'm crazy to fk her again but all my mates keep warning me that she's just stringing me along.

What do you think?

GC, Surrey

Tess says...

ARRANGE another session when she's alone.

I fulfilled porn-style threesome fantasy

Dear Tess,

I SHAGGED my bird and her fit mate a couple of nights ago. This was the first threesome I've ever had and I have to say that it was brilliant.

I'd fantasised about being in bed with two women from being in my late teens.

And it was fuelled by watching porn films, where two stunnas hungrily take it in turns to slobber all over some lucky guy's knob.

Me, my missus and her mate had been down the local pub and ended up back at my flat after having a load to drink.

My bird and her pal, who are both blondes, started playfully kissing each other, so I got my seven-inch cock out and they started licking it in turn.

Licked

I then did my bird from behind while her mate got underneath me and licked and played with my swollen balls.

Then I did her pal. It was amazing – her fanny was tight and I couldn't help myself and after only five minutes I pulled out and shot my load over her boobs.

I shagged them three times each and watched as they licked each other out.

I'd love another go, but when my bird had sobered up the following morning she said it was a mistake and will never happen again.

What can I do to make her change her mind?

JR, Humberside

Tess says...

GET them pissed again!

Dear Tess,

I'M an extremely rich executive who has pulled himself up by his bootstraps to make it to the very top.

I have a lovely house, several nice cars and a beautiful wife.

I also play a lot of golf – and recently I've been doing something I shouldn't.

I was bored one day when I had a flash of inspiration and decided to hire a hooker to come up to my office and spread her legs on the carpet.

Then I used her fanny for putting practise.

At first I'd just roll a couple of balls toward her hairy gap and pay her to be on her way.

But since she's shaved off all her pussy hair, I find myself spending hours putting balls into her moist tunnel.

She's quite an accommodating girl and can get two or three golf balls up there at one time.

The trouble is, every time I go out on the golf course now, my putting is all over the shop without a fanny to aim at.

Do you think I should bring this girl on the course with me and get her to spread them on every green?

GS, Worcestershire

Tess says...

YOU'D be "putting" your marriage in danger if you did!

DO YOU HAVE A SEX PROBLEM?

#HOT'N'HORNY

HOT Holly Henderson has got no time for the likes of domineering Fifty Shades of Grey character Christian Grey.

That's because the model, who is also famous for dating footballer Mario Balotelli, likes to be the boss in the bedroom.

Scouser Holly said she is not against being tied up, but she's more likely to be the one taking control in bed.

When asked her fave sex position, the 34E scorchers said: "If I had to pick one, I would say me on top."

"I like being in control and it means the guy can have a good look at my boobs, too."

"And if they're crap in bed, then I can at least make sure I have a good time and get myself off."

"If a man is rubbish in bed, he won't last long with me!"

And when it comes to trying Fifty Shades-style nookie, she added: "I've tried bondage. I've been tied up and dominated a bit in bed."

"But I'm more likely to be the dominant one!"

SEND US YOUR SELF-SHOTS!
selfshot@sundaysport.co.uk

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls that you are clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

SENSUAL JANE

SUPERMARKET assistant Liam Neem wanted a kinky picture of Romania-born Jane and we doubt he'll be disappointed with this corker.

Liam, 43, from Hull, asked for a sexy photo of Jane, now living in Chelmsford, Essex and we've dug out this sultry snap where she looks stunning with her 34G norks dangling free.

Liam said: "She's my ultimate girl!"

AMI HANNAH

MACHINIST Nathan Holland loves Ami Hannah's natural girl-next-door looks and reckons she's his ideal woman.

Nathan, 56, from Clitheroe, Lancs, can't get enough of Ami's 32D boobs and is completely in awe of the Birmingham beauty.

He said: "She's the ideal woman – natural face, perfect boobs and just an absolute worldie of a woman."

"I don't like fake boobs – they're not for me."

"But I'd love to cop a feel of Ami's globes – they're sensational!"

KATHY LLOYD

PROUD Scot Iain Peacock requested a topless snap of glamour legend Kathy Lloyd to keep him going throughout his long drives.

Iain, 59, is a delivery driver from Inverness and asked for a naughty look at Liverpool stunna Kathy's 36E knockers to keep him occupied during his job.

He said: "It is illegal to look at your mobile phone while driving – but at any other time, it should be illegal NOT to ogle Kathy's perfectly pert boobs."

"She's an absolute scorcher and I'm gonna keep the pic in the cab – she'll definitely make those miles easier!"

Hukum on the right track if ground suits

OWEN Burrows will walk the course at Sandown on Thursday before deciding whether or not to allow Hukum to run in the Racehorse Lotto Brigadier Gerard Stakes.

Hukum is set to face a field that includes Desert Crown, last year's Derby winner – who is similarly due to make his return from a long absence – in a mouthwatering renewal of the 10-furlong Group 3.

However, the Lambourn trainer hinted that if there is not enough moisture in the ground, he could withdraw his six-year-old, who is scheduled to make his comeback after an injury which has sidelined him for 11 months.

Burrows went from the high of winning the Coronation Cup, a first Group One success at Epsom in June, to despair in the space of a few hours, when Hukum was found to be lame after returning home.

A year-older full-brother to the brilliant Baeeed, Hukum picked up a hind leg injury which required three screws to be inserted and it seemed likely he would be retired to stud.

However, he has made a remarkable recovery and Burrows is keen not to take any unnecessary risks with Sheikhha Hissa's Shadwell-owned colt.

"Hopefully he can get back on the track," said the handler. "He seemed to have improved again from the year before and then he got that injury. It was hugely disappointing, but it doesn't do to dwell on things."

"It was a pretty straightforward injury. If he was a two or three-year-old, he would definitely have come back. There would have been no issue."

"But with him just winning a Group One, my thought was that he would head off to stud."

"But Sheikhha Hissa quite sportingly said that if there was a good chance of getting him back, then she'd be happy to give him a chance. Touch wood he's had plenty of time and we have had a nice preparation with him."

TRAINER: Owen Burrows

Though a winner of over £630,000 and successful in nine of his 15 starts, any plans to defend his Coronation Cup title on his first outing of the season were scratched.

Yet Burrows is well aware of the task Hukum faces on his return, which is a stepping stone to a run at Royal Ascot.

"We thought it was probably a bit strong to go straight back into a Group One, so this is going to definitely be a prep run."

"He needs to get out now. It is slightly concerning that we are drying up so quick, though."

"I wouldn't risk him on proper fast ground."

Sandown's clerk of the course, Andrew Cooper, normally does a great job producing safe ground.

"I'll get there sharp and we will have a walk of the track and all being well, if we are happy, then he will take his chance."

"It's pretty obvious the task we face, though. Desert Crown was a pretty impressive Derby and Dante winner last year. There doesn't appear to be many chinks in his armour."

"He looks a relaxed horse who looks solid, so it is a massive ask, but it is all about getting our fella on the track and getting a run into him."

ALL THE TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACING

AL HUSN

Make Al your pal for Rothsay win

AL HUSN can provide trainer Roger Varian with a third victory in the last six runnings of the Tennent's Lager British Stallion Studs EBF Rothsay Stakes at Ayr.

The Newmarket handler claimed the Listed prize with Nezwaah in 2017 and Shenanigans two years later, and will have high hopes of striking Scottish gold once more with another upwardly mobile filly.

After being beaten in her first two races, Al Hunsn rattled off four successive wins and was unbeaten in three outings last season.

The daughter of Dubawi made her reappearance in the Group Two Dahlia Stakes at Newmarket earlier this month and while no match for the brilliant winner Via Sistina, she was best of the rest in second and can only strip fitter for the run.

With a return to 10furlongs and a sounder surface both in her favour, Al Hunsn will take some stopping.

Ventura Rascal has won at Ayr before and should go well again in the Whitley Neill Handicap.

The six-year-old is only a

WEDNESDAY'S TIPS

pound higher in the weights than when finding the target here a couple of years ago and there was plenty of encouragement to be taken from his comeback fourth at Pontefract.

Ventura Rascal raced on the speed that day before weakening late on and given it was his first outing since September and his first since undergoing wind surgery he could improve significantly.

The excellent recent form of trainer Kevin Ryan's string breeds further confidence that he will be ready to run up to his very best.

Johnny Murtagh's Irish raider Theophilus looks the answer to the Absolut Vodka Handicap.

The four-year-old won with more in hand than the official winning margin of a length and a quarter might suggest at Tipperary last month and while an 11lb higher mark looks steep on the face of it, Murtagh would not be sending him to Scotland if he did not think he was up to the task.

At Liberty is of clear interest in the Moulton Nurseries Handicap at Yarmouth.

Michael Bell's charge is a previous winner at the Norfolk circuit and has also finished second twice from just four course starts, so he clearly likes the place.

He was well held on his first start of 2023 at Bath, but levelled up when a creditable third at Nottingham last month on ground softer than ideal.

Quickening conditions will certainly help him as he returns to a happy hunting ground and he is certainly capable of making his presence felt from his current perch of 70.

Level

Happy Tears may be able to make it third time lucky for George Boughey in the British Stallion Studs EBF Maiden Fillies' Stakes.

The daughter of Dandy Man has so far finished fourth at Bath and Ascot respectively, not beaten far on either occasion.

She does not appear to be a star at this stage, but she is another who may be able to take her game to another level now we are finally getting some fast ground.

Perfect Gentleman can claim a third win on the all-weather at Kempton in the opening Unibet Horserace Betting-Operator Of The Year Handicap, while Saint Calvados is taken to get back on the winning trail over the jumps at Warwick.

The 10-year-old has not got his head in front since landing the Grade Two Oaksey Chase at Sandown in April of last year, but has been competing at a high level and his recent third placed finish at Ayr suggested his winning turn is not far away.

At Southwell, Boomtime Banker may be able to complete his hat-trick as he returns from a break in the Follow @attheraces On Twitter Handicap Hurdle.

MURPHY UP FOR EPSOM

OISIN Murphy is thrilled to have live chances in both the Derby and Oaks at Epsom next week as he bids to continue his excellent comeback campaign.

The three-time champion jockey has been in high demand since returning from a 14-month suspension for alcohol and Covid breaches and has already claimed Classic glory aboard the Saeed bin Suroor-trained Mawj in the 1000 Guineas at Newmarket.

Murphy has not yet won the Derby or the Oaks – but has high hopes of netting one or both this year with The Foxes and Running Lion respectively.

The Foxes, trained by Andrew Balding, cemented his Derby claims with victory in the Dante at York, while John and Thady Gosden's Running Lion oozed class when landing Newmarket's Pretty Polly and delighted her connections when working at Epsom's Derby Festival Gallops Morning.

"We were delighted with Running Lion at Newmarket. She came out of the race well and today went down relaxed," said Murphy.

"We jumped off just inside the mile and the idea was not to go mad but to do a sensible bit of work. We let them flow down the hill, maybe from the six-furlong pole round Tattenham Corner.

"Once I got her organised, although she didn't take too much organising, I let her go forward in the straight but I resisted the temptation to ask her for an effort because I thought the Pretty Polly with a little bit of dig in the ground wasn't long ago.

"That race would have made sure she was very fit so today was more about having a nice away day and coming here relaxing and going home."

Murphy is keen to reward those who supported him since his return to the saddle, adding: "I've ridden for over 40 different trainers in Britain and I think I'm the busiest jockey in England and in Europe thanks to them."

"The Foxes was great in the Dante and I heard he was perfect when he trotted up on Friday. Hopefully he has a smooth run between now and the race."

Fantastic

"I'm delighted for his owners as they have invested an awful lot of money into the sport."

"I'm happy to be in this position. To have two nice horses to ride in those Classics is fantastic."

Both Running Lion and The Foxes will head to Epsom with stamina doubts hanging over them with neither having raced beyond a mile and a quarter so far.

Running Lion's top-class sire Roaring Lion had his limitations exposed when third in the 2018 Derby, and Murphy admits only time will tell.

He said: "I don't know if Running Lion will stay, but no one knows."

"She might find the last two furlongs too far, but it would be a nice way to find out in the Oaks if I was on the bridle at the three-furlong marker like on her sire."

"We don't know if The Foxes will stay as his half-brother Bangkok was a real 10-furlong horse."

SUPER SARRIE: Maitland

Maitland happy to play on

RUGBY UNION

SEAN Maitland is ready to help Saracens claim the Premiership title on Saturday after his contract saga ended an unsettling period.

Maitland was about to prepare his departure speech for the club's leavers' event on April 28 because of the uncertainty over whether he would still be at StoneX next season.

It was a fraught time for the Scotland wing and his family due to the Premiership's reduced salary cap making contracts harder to come by, but Saracens have chosen to retain his clinical finishing skills.

"It was lastminute.com. Again! The last two have been quite similar. The market is probably not the best at the moment, especially for a 34-year-old winger," Maitland said.

"It's a bit complicated with the salary cap and everything that's going on in rugby."

"It doesn't just involve me. I'm just so happy because I have a young family and my kids get to stay in the same school and in the same house for another year."

"Some things helped me – little micro-chats with my wife, small chats about the future and what could happen, keeping her updated about things here and at other clubs."

"I'm very grateful it's sorted and I can just worry about playing rugby. To move from this club which I love would have been pretty difficult."

The climax to the season against Sale at Twickenham on Saturday will be the last Saracens appearances for Jackson Wray, Duncan Taylor, Max Malins and Ruben de Haas.

Maitland did not know if he would be joining them out of the door, thereby ending his seven-year spell in north London.

He said: "I got a call to come in and I had my wee son with me thinking: 'I'm going to be told this is my last time here'."

"I sat down with Phil and (director of rugby) Mark McCall and they said: 'Mate, we want to give you another year'. It was special."

"The game has given me so much over the last 15 or 16 years."

"I was accepting the fact this was my last year and wanted to go out on a high winning the Premiership, but one more year and the dream keeps going on."

MOVE TO HEAR REF CALLS

SCOTTISH FA chief Ian Maxwell expects fans to get more insight into VAR decisions – but live audio of referees is not allowed under FIFA rules.

Fans got some insight into several decisions from the Premier League season and Maxwell hopes Scottish football can provide more understanding after the introduction of VAR.

Maxwell said: "There needs to be a dose of reality given the amount of time that it's been in up here."

"England have had it for six years and they have done it once and it was audio from clips that were a month old.

By ANDY MILLOM

"When I listen to commentators and they say it would be great to hear what the referee is saying, but it's not allowed under the laws of the game. We are not permitted to stream the audio between the referees and the VAR room live."

"Will that come? I'm sure it will. FIFA are trialling it at one of the youth world cups, they are going to trial communication between the match officials and those in the stand."

"We need to make sure the processes we have got in place let as many people know as soon as possible about decisions and what's being looked at and why."

"We are bound by the FIFA protocol and they are in the process of reviewing that because they have not done so for the six or seven years it has been in place."

Maxwell had warned before VAR's introduction that Scottish football could face a "horrendous" three months but he believes there is no doubt decision-making has improved despite criticisms from managers.

"I actually said, that when I spoke to UEFA they were telling me that everywhere it's been implemented, the first three months were horrendous," he said. "I didn't say ours would be horrendous."

"Listen, it's been difficult. It was always going to be such a high-profile addition that there was always going to be contention round about it."

"The technology works. I would be naive to say that it's been perfect because it's not."

"We are getting fewer decisions wrong, there is no doubt about that."

Leeds are Ayling as dreaded drop nears

IT LOOKS GRIM FOR LUKE AS UNITED STRUGGLE TO WIN

GOOSE: Ayling

LUKE Ayling believes Leeds have lost their renowned fitness levels in a damning assessment of their plight this season.

The Whites were left on the brink of relegation from the Premier League after a 3-1 defeat at West Ham on Sunday.

They took the lead through Rodrigo but were pegged back by an equaliser from Declan Rice.

Then Leeds, famed for their stamina under former boss Marcelo Bielsa, wilted in the second half as goals from Jarrod Bowen and Manuel Lanzini left them needing a final-day miracle to stay up.

Disappointing

"I think in years gone past, teams feared us when it comes to a running point of view and our fitness and stuff and I just don't feel like it's there this season," full-back Ayling said.

"We start so well, we start bright, we score a goal then they score a goal.

"That can happen at this level, but then we came out for the second half and we just can't go again so it's very disappointing."

The Yorkshire club's three-season stay in the top-flight will be over if they fail to beat Tottenham next Sunday and, depending on other results, victory on the final day might not be enough to save them.

Here, Midweek Sport looks at some of the reasons why it has gone wrong at Elland Road.

BIELSA LEGACY CASTS SHADOW

Leeds chairman Andrea Radrizzani, former director of football Victor Orta and chief executive Angus Kinnear received huge acclaim when the club ended their 16-year Premier League exile in 2020.

They played a masterstroke by handing the keys to the bus to head coach Marcelo Bielsa in 2018, but their legacy was always going to be defined by how they filled the vacuum after sacking him in February 2022.

The bus stalled when poor results cost the Argentinian his job. The board has since got most of its key decisions wrong and all the wheels, one by one, have fallen off.

By WES DERBY

WHAT EXACTLY DID THE BOARD GET WRONG?

Bielsa's successor Jesse Marsch was hailed as a natural replacement, but performances and results did not improve. Leeds survived relegation last season on the final day and when Marsch was sacked in February this year he left the club in a worse position in the table.

The board's failed bids to hire Rayo Vallecano's Andoni Iraola and Feyenoord's Arne Slot led to accusations of panic and, after a fans' backlash, they also reneged on appointing former Ajax boss Alfred Schreuder. So in came Javi Gracia.

CAN RELEGATION BE BLAMED SOLELY ON THE MANAGERS?

No. After Leeds defied the odds to finish ninth under Bielsa in their first season back in the top flight, they have failed to sufficiently strengthen. A lack of cover for an injury-prone Patrick Bamford and Tyler Adams are prime examples. It has been an imbalanced squad with wide players in abundance, but no depth in other areas.

Some signings since promotion, such as Raphinha, Adams, Luis Sinisterra and Willy Gnonto, have been a success, but too many others have failed to make an impact, while the arrival of club record signing Georginio Rutter has left fans scratching their heads.

HAS THE OWNERSHIP ISSUE MUDDIED THE WATERS?

The appointment of Allardyce was symptomatic of Leeds' mismanagement and of a club in limbo since the investment arm of San Francisco 49ers increased its stake to 44 per cent at the end of 2021.

Orta's resignation over Gracia's sacking has left Leeds without a director of football and, if Allardyce departs as expected, they will be without a long-term head coach.

How relegation would affect the takeover remains to be seen, while Radrizzani has been linked with a takeover of Sampdoria.

With relegation looming a rudderless ship appears to be heading for the rocks.

MY SEAGULLS MAY TAKE OFF

ROBERTO De Zerbi accepts that some of Brighton's top talents may not be part of his Seagulls set-up when they take on Europe for the first time next season.

Albion guaranteed themselves at least the Europa Conference League with Sunday's 3-1 Premier League victory over Southampton, though sixth and the Europa League are also all-but assured.

By PAUL THOMAS

What remains less certain are the futures of multiple men who helped make history at the Amex, with Alexis Mac Allister and Moises Caicedo among the names linked with summer transfers.

De Zerbi said: "Now we have to organise, we have to build a new squad. We have to organise the new season. We have to finish before, OK, but then we have to organise and we have to build a new squad."

"I think we don't need too many players but we have to compete in the Europa League. We have to compete in the Premier League because it will be tougher for sure for us."

"I think we will lose some big players, but it's right, no? Because they deserve to play for other targets in another team, but we have to be ready to bring in big players with the policy of the club. "We have to arrive ready to compete in four competitions."

TOP JOB: De Zerbi

According to some reports, World Cup winner Mac Allister, who joined Albion in January 2019 on a four-and-a-half-year deal, has already agreed a move to Liverpool.

Brighton CEO Paul Barber, however, was quick to dismiss those rumours: "If I lost sleep over every report about one of our players doing that, then I wouldn't be sleeping very much at all."

"He's focused on doing what he can for us in our final two games. We've got a massive game here against Man City on Wednesday and then we go to Villa Park on Sunday to complete what has been a fantastic season for us."

Delighted

"I saw him down on the pitch looking happy and obviously we'd love him to be here next season."

"We know that there are going to be a lot of clubs, not just in this country but around Europe, around the world that are going to be wanting Alexis to play for them."

"But at the moment he is wearing blue and white stripes and I'm delighted about that."

Southampton boss Ruben Selles was also looking ahead to his club's future, though what happens to him after the conclusion of the campaign is unclear.

Selles' agreement also expires at the end of the season, with Swansea boss Russell Martin rumoured to replace him.

The Spaniard handed academy prospects Kamari Doyle and Dom Ballard their league debuts in the relegated Saints' penultimate Premier League contest, with just Liverpool at St Mary's left to play.

He said: "I'm looking ahead to what can I do if I'm here or not. And that's why I can give our players that are coming from the academy all the way into the first team."

UNAI TAKES MCGINN TO SCHOOL

Aston Villa midfielder John McGinn admits having the chance to qualify for Europe for the first time in more than a decade is something which they did not think was possible six months ago.

Manager Unai Emery took over from Steven Gerrard in late October with the club 15th in the Premier League but after a 1-1 draw at Anfield their destiny remains in their own hands in terms of securing a spot in the Europa Conference League.

McGinn, who said "every day is a school day" under the Spaniard, accepts that possibility seemed remote at the start of winter.

"It's been the aim since day one. The owners have had a remit to get us back playing European football," he said.

"If you'd said to us back in November 'you'd be three points away' then you'd have laughed. We have got three points to get to get us back."

"This club deserves to be in the top 10, we've managed to secure that for the first time in a long, long while."

"Now it's about building, getting into Europe hopefully and build from there."

McGinn said the transformation under Emery, who has won 14 and lost just six of his 24 matches in charge, had been remarkable.

And he believed their performance and experience at Anfield against a team desperately trying to attain Champions League qualification would stand them in good stead if they do qualify for Europe.

"It was a test for us, it was a challenge. If we want to play in Europe, we need to come to places like this and get results," he added.

"We've given ourselves a huge opportunity next week and hopefully we take it."

"It's in our hands now and we know three points will get us European football."

"The manager has touched on it, he has a lot of experience of European football, I'm sure everyone involved in the club will be so focused this week to make sure that's a reality."

"He will have an obsession this week on how to beat Brighton. If you ask any player who has worked with him he has been an absolute pleasure."

"He's made myself better, he's made other players better. Every day is a school day."

"I'm not used to his style of football, the Spanish way. I've always had British ex-pros who were all brilliant for me, brilliant for my career but he's certainly showing me a different side of football and one I'm certainly enjoying."

"I feel as if I've got so much left to learn but, even at 28, there's so much more learning to do. Hopefully the progress can continue and myself and others can continue to improve."

HOPEFUL: Sean Dyche

Dyche on high for Survival Sunday

SEAN Dyche fired a warning to Everton's relegation rivals and vowed his side are alive and kicking ahead of 'Survival Sunday'.

The Toffees' last-gasp 1-1 draw at Wolves saw them grab what could be a priceless point, with Yerry Mina equalising seconds from the end of nine minutes of stoppage time.

Leeds' 3-1 defeat at West Ham left the Toffees two points clear of the bottom three.

Everton host Bournemouth in Sunday's finale but Dyche believes their battling point at Molineux proves his side are up for the final fight.

"It sends a message that we're alive and ready, taking it on," he said.

"We've had a few question marks over ourselves and things that have got away from us, but there's been a lot of good.

"I've reminded the players, there are a lot of good players. They are seeing through the challenges, which I've spoken to them at length about.

"See through the noise, forget about that. Look at what's around us, look at the players we've got. I was pleased with them on Saturday, not just for the bigger situation.

"A point doesn't sound a lot – maybe at this stage it is – but their performance, the will and demand.

"It's not always about tactics. It can be, but it's about the will and demand of a group. That was on show to get something out of a game which looked like it was going away from us.

"The consistency of my message to the players has been very similar. Generally there have been tactical and personnel tweaks but the underlying message has been very consistent. The mentality has got stronger and stronger, particularly away from home.

"I think there's been an obvious shift, but it means nothing unless we take care of ourselves next week."

Dyche knows it will be difficult to keep his players away from distractions.

"Everyone with their phone, everyone who wanders around the Trafford Centre. Everyone has an opinion on something, but it's part of being a modern footballer, manager or coach. It's the way it is, you adapt. We all know it's there."

CAN CITY END THEIR SEASON

STONES CHASING HISTORY

Our job is far from over says revived England star who wants treble glory

JOHN Stones is determined not to ease up as Manchester City chase the treble.

City claimed the first of a potential three trophies in the coming weeks as they wrapped up the Premier League title over the weekend.

They now have their sights on the FA Cup final against Manchester United on June 3 and the Champions League final in Istanbul the following week, when they face Inter Milan.

Defender Stones, now a five-time Premier League winner, said: "We've got to keep the rhythm."

"The hunger is there and we know what's ahead of us now, that we can try and make some more history."

City were presented with the Premier League trophy after a comfortable 1-0 win over Chelsea, courtesy of a Julian Alvarez goal, at the Etihad Stadium on Sunday.

Their title triumph – their fifth in six seasons and a third in succession – had been confirmed the previous evening when second-placed Arsenal lost at Nottingham Forest.

By PAUL THOMAS

City trailed the Gunners by eight points last month but have surged past their closest rivals on a run of 12 straight wins.

Stones said: "I don't think I had time to doubt what we can do. I think it was just focusing on what was ahead of us, focusing on winning."

"We've done it so many times now. We just came on this run, and it's just incredible what kind of team we've got. I've been here seven years and we just keep going from strength to strength."

"The titles that we've won – I think it speaks for itself."

Stones has been part of the back line, at either centre-back or right-back, when opponents have been attacking but has stepped into midfield when City have been in possession. So he has made a big impression at both ends of the field.

"I love it," he said. "It's something new for me that I'm learning, giving my everything, every game."

"I don't know if it's my best football but I'm absolutely loving playing."

"It's easy when you're winning and playing the football that we are, but it's another string to my bow and I am absolutely enjoying it."

HOW WILL PEP GUARDIOLA APPROACH CITY'S FINAL TWO LEAGUE GAMES?

With the title race over, City can afford to ease up for their two remaining games – away to Brighton and Brentford – before switching attention to their two finals.

The line-up against Chelsea, when manager Guardiola named most of his big guns on the bench, showed he intends to lighten his star names' load. Yet there is also a need to keep players sharp and prevent rustiness.

There may be a clue to his thinking in the line-ups for the two Premier League games immediately prior to the Champions League semi-final first leg against Real Madrid. In those matches, against West Ham and Leeds, Guardiola gave all his starting XI against Madrid game time but only one – Erling Haaland – started both. We could see a similar approach with half the first-choice side starting the first game, and the other half the second.

ARE THERE ANY INJURY CONCERNS?

City have had a good season in terms of squad fitness with few injuries. Defender Nathan Ake is currently their only sidelined player with a hamstring problem.

The Netherlands international has enjoyed a fine campaign but time is short. He may need to get some action against either Brighton or Brentford to have a chance of starting against Manchester United at Wembley or Inter Milan in Istanbul.

ONE DOWN, TWO TO GO: Stones and Haaland with the Premier League trophy

WHAT WILL THE APPROACH TO THE FINALS FROM CITY BE?

Obviously it is hard to make predictions but it is notable that Guardiola named the same side for City's three biggest games of recent weeks – the crunch Premier League clash with Arsenal and both legs against Real Madrid.

With performance levels in those games outstanding, it would appear he has found his ideal big-match XI. There could be some room for deviation in the FA Cup – for instance Stefan Ortega has been the regular domestic cup starting keeper and Riyad Mahrez's semi-final hat-trick may earn him another outing – but the side for Istanbul would seem at least pencilled in.

CAN UNITED STOP CITY'S TREBLE?

United's fans may view their own team as the best hope of stopping City emulating their famous 1999 treble, City will be firm favourites to win both finals but Manchester derbies can be unpredictable. City thrashed their neighbours 6-3 in October but United got revenge when they met again at Old Trafford in January.

There was some controversy over United's equaliser in the 2-1 win but the Red Devils proved they can compete with City on a given day.

City have hit their stride since and United's mid-season charge has slowed, but Erik ten Hag's team can shine on a one-off occasion.

DO INTER POSE A THREAT TO CITY?

After thrashing Madrid in the previous round, City seem destined to finally claim the Champions League prize this term. It is difficult to see Inter, currently the fourth best team in Serie A, containing them.

Yet the Italians are defensively strong and do pose a threat through the likes of Romelu Lukaku, Lautaro Martinez and former City striker Edin Dzeko, so they may have a puncher's chance.

FORGET TERROR OF RELEGATION

JIM Goodwin has told his Dundee United players "to not feel sorry" for themselves ahead of the battle with relegation rivals Kilmarnock on Wednesday.

The Terrors sit bottom of the Premiership, two points behind Ross County and three behind Killie, with two fixtures remaining.

Goodwin, who was appointed United manager in March, stressed positivity to his players.

"The key message was to not feel sorry for ourselves," said the Irishman. "I don't want to see anyone mumping and moaning about the place."

"I want to see everyone nice and bright which I think I got at training this morning, there was a positive reaction."

"We are not brushing anything under the carpet. I don't think there is a great deal between the two teams and there is a lot at stake."

Liverpool want Palace forward

KOP IDOL:
Liverpool
like Eze

LIVERPOOL are interested in Crystal Palace forward Eberechi Eze.

Kop boss Jurgen Klopp is looking to replace Roberto Firmino who has just left the club after eight years.

Liverpool like the look of Eze because he fits the profile of a younger player who wouldn't expect to walk straight into the first team. The 24-year-old has enjoyed another good season with the Eagles – firing in ten goals.

Palace signed him from Queens Park Rangers in 2020 for £17m. He would cost double that if Liverpool want him. Liverpool legend John Barnes thinks Eze would be ideal for the Reds.

He said: "I would absolutely love him at Liverpool. He would fit into the team as one of the three midfield players as a number ten or as a wide forward."

"He's very intelligent and very good on the ball. I think he's been Crystal Palace's best player."
